Dear Mr. Sapp:

The Central Intelligence Agency welcomes the opportunity to nominate for the 1966 William A. Jamp Memorial Award Mr. John M. McMahon, Deputy Director of our Office of Special Projects which is engaged in the conceptual development and application of highly specialized intelligence collection programs.

Mr. McMahon has demonstrated during his fifteen years in the Central Intelligence Agency that he possesses executive-management ability to an extraordinary extent for an individual of his age and experience. His unusual talents in the fields of personnel management, financial administration, program analysis, organization, planning, and policy direction have accelerated his career advancement to a top executive position in one of the Agency's most important technological programs. He is a dynamic young administrator whose leadership and notable contributions to the effective management of this Agency are exceptional. I believe he possesses a great potential as a future administrator at the senior level of Government operations.

Mr. McMahon will be available for an interview by the Award Committee, and I will send a senior official of our Agency to brief the Committee on Mr. McMahon's achievements. If more information is deemed necessary. I wish to express my appreciation for the continued effort of the Foundation to promote good government by recognizing distinguished service in the important field of public administration.
